Delta's Forum

about the mechanism of work of the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Ray discussed the absence of low-rent housing in Indianapolis, the function of the City Redevelopment Commission and how it is appointed.

Mr. Earnhart, from Merit Employment, discussed job opportunities, and the solution of the "problem" of preparation for jobs.

The question-answer period followed and much discussion ensued. Questions included: "How can people be helped to keep their property up so that the value remains good and the neighborhood remains intact?"

Dr. Joseph Taylor spoke about the problems people who live in "gray" areas have when they would like to borrow money for upkeep of their property.

By this time I suppose you have heard of the Mary McLeod Bethune Drive which the National Council of Negro Women established through its board of directors.
